

Country Day draws a beautiful picture of us

Country Day on the Hill this year featured a parade, the FUMC 5K Fun Run, over 100 craft vendors, food, activities, contests and live entertainment on three stages.

But the best part was the people. Thousands came to Historic Downtown Cedar Hill to participate in this year's edition.

They started coming to Old Settlers' Reunion on the Friday before Country Day. They enjoyed a beans and cornbread dinner with proceeds benefitting local charities.

Thousands came on Saturday where they enjoyed more than the

'Parade of Joy' set at UV

The local holiday season kicks off on Saturday, Nov. 20 with the third annual "Parade of Joy" at Uptown Village.

Holiday decorations will be up by then and, according to Center Manager Maranda Auzene, "Every year this event gets better and this year will be a quantum leap".

The parade is scheduled to start at 9 a.m. and will wind through all of the Uptown Village Center.

The City will provide extra traffic management to assist entry for the parade.

Residents can expect to see a great parade and an up-close look at some public safety equipment. You might even see a few elected officials.

City gets $2.5M to develop trails

The City of Cedar Hill has entered into an agreement with Dallas County to begin development and construction of the Red Oak Creek Trail.

Dallas County has granted Cedar Hill $2.5 million for this project. As shown in the map, the proposed trail is made up of several segments totaling over 3 miles.

The trail is expected to run North from Dot Thomas Park along Red Oak Creek to Virginia Weaver Park with an eastern extension to the Cedar Hill Recreation Center. Extending westward is a connection to the Cedar Trails Green Belt.

The trail is expected to be a 10-foot-wide paved surface. The City has set aside about $500,000 for lighting, signage and other improvements beyond the Dallas County grant.

The trail will be open to hikers, joggers, cyclists, walkers and in-line skaters. Students and school employees will be able to access W.S. Permenter Middle School, Plummer Elementary and Cedar Hill High School.

Corridor residents will find the trail a convenient way to access public schools, park properties and the Cedar Hill Recreation Center.

Design development is expected to begin soon with construction expected in 2012.

New Speakers Bureau increases transparency

If you would like to request a speaker for your neighborhood or civic organization meeting see "In the Spotlight" on the front page of the City website. Complete the online request form and a City staffer will contact you. We will make every effort to accommodate your request for a speaker.

Our knowledgeable City staff, elected officials, department directors and others are available to make presentations, apprise your organization of city services and programs, or simply address questions and concerns you make have about your local government.

The City of Cedar Hill prides itself on delivering the highest quality municipal services to our citizens and customers consistent with our community values. One of the best ways for us to make sure we are fulfilling our mission is to maintain open lines of communication between our citizens and City Hall. We are constantly seeking opportunities to network and build meaningful relationships with residents and businesses in the community and we are committed to making sure your voice is heard.

Is Santa here yet?

The Tri-City Animal Shelter is once again participating in the Santa Claws pictures at Petsmart in Duncanville. During the first three weekends in December between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., you can bring your furry friends and have their pictures taken with Santa. All of the proceeds of the pictures go to benefit the Tri-City Animal Shelter. Petsmart is at 2964 W Wheatland Rd next to Sam's Club. For more information call the store at 972.283.3600 or the shelter at 972.291.5335.

Shelter Benefit collects over $13K

Thanks to support from the communities of Cedar Hill, DeSoto and Duncanville, this year's gala generated over $13,000 to benefit the animals in the Tri-Cities Animal Shelter.

This event would not have been a success without the generosity and support of the citizens, businesses, City Council members and Mayors of our three cities.

The highlight of the event was during the live auction when the Mayors offered themselves up for auction creating a mock bidding war between the cities. Watch for information about and plan to attend next year's gala.

Lost child found by Community Emergency Response Team volunteer

On a recent evening, the Cedar Hill Police Department received a frantic call about a lost child.

Only 9 years old, the girl was reported missing after 8 p.m.

Responders for the search included police officers, a K-9 unit, a group of firefighters, friends, neighbors, and volunteers from Cedar Hill's Community Emergency Response Team (CERT).

CERT Coordinator Clark Stephenson said every CERT volunteer that he called that evening responded to help in the search.

Teams spread out from the child's home searching in the dark with flashlights.

After several tense hours, a team including fire fighters and a CERT volunteer found the child sleeping in a grove of cedar trees just a few blocks from her home.

It's easy to take water for granted when it flows every time we turn on the tap.

But it takes a lot to get water to your tap. The City of Cedar Hill Water Department distributes an average of 8.7 million gallons a day to 15,843 metered water connections.

During a particularly hot day in 2006 residents consumed 19.7 million gallons.

Drinking water for Cedar Hill is acquired mostly from the City of Dallas which distributes drinking water to a large portion of North Texas. A small amount of Cedar Hill water is from a City-owned well.

Safety of the water supply is most important so the City collects 50 bacteriological and chlorine samples each month to ensure water quality.

Our water department maintains 278 miles of water lines, 2 water pumping facilities, 1 water well and 2 elevated storage tanks. The City's storage capacity exceeds 17.5 million gallons.

Maintenance includes repairing line breaks and extends to divers who examine elevated storage tanks and video cameras that snake into water and sewer lines to provide visual inspection.

Dealing with sewage is an equally large and important task that involves 215 miles of wastewater collection lines and 19 sewer lift stations.

Cedar Hill wastewater is directed downstream to treatment plants that discharge clean water into the Trinity River.

Neighbors turn out for local National Night Out

National Night Out in Cedar Hill featured 41 neighborhood groups meeting in 19 locations.

Each NNO event that registered with the City was visited by at least three groups of police officers, firefighters, City Council members, CHISD Trustees and City staffers.

Watch your drain's diet

During the holiday season there is so much going on we sometimes forget about important things like our sewer system.

One of the most common clogs in sewer lines is cooking grease. Many people just dump it down the drain.

Some even pour the grease from their turkey fryer down the drain.

While it's warm it will flow, but once underground the grease cools and turns into a lard-like substance that clogs sewer lines, causing expensive repairs.

Please dispose of cooking grease and oil in a suitable container placed in your trash.

The cooperation was another example of what makes Cedar Hill special. Residents were able to share a hot dog with elected officials and public servants. There was a lot of laughter as neighbors got to know each other better.

Cedar Hill's National Night Out, a crime and drug abuse prevention program, has grown from about six neighborhoods only a few years ago to over 40 this year.

Police Sgt. Jerry Busby, the P.A.C.T. (Police And Community Together) Supervisor, and the P.A.C.T. officers who work with the neighborhood watch groups did a great job of getting participation all over the city.
