Cyclists Head for the Hills

Over 1,100 enjoy terrain, endure rain

More than 1,000 bikers from the Dallas-Fort Worth area and beyond flocked to the Rotary Club of Cedar Hill's "Head for the Hills" bike rally on May 12.

The event started and ended in Uptown Village at Cedar Hill. A small team of Rotary Club members directed a large staff of volunteers and coordinated participation from local companies.

Cedar Hill police officers helped control traffic on city streets as the cyclists journeyed on 10, 20, 40 and 60-mile routes.

Broad involvement

Rest stops were provided every 10 miles along the route. Volunteers from other area organizations and businesses provided water, sports drinks, cookies and fruit.

Mini Chick-Fil-A sandwiches were available for the 40 and 60-mile riders.

At the last rest stop, Expressions Chiropractic helped work out the kinks for weary riders.

Back at Uptown Village, riders lined up to enjoy Red Robin restaurant burgers, cooked on-site. Razzo's offered riders cups of spicy pasta (carbs) to those waiting for burgers.

Not even rain showers during the event dampened spirits. Comments from riders included:

"My favorite ride! Thanks to the city of Cedar Hill, volunteers, police officers, Red Robin and all that continues to make this ride awesome! Yes, even with the rain."

"Great event!! I especially enjoyed the

CCPD funding program needs no new taxes

During a recent City Council briefing session Cedar Hill Police Chief Steve Rhodes provided information about how Cedar Hill might benefit by setting up a Crime Control and Prevention District (CCPD) as prescribed by state statutes.

A CCPD would require no new taxes. It is funded by re-allocating current sales tax revenue without changing the sales tax rate.

The sales tax rate in Cedar Hill is 8.25%. That rate will not change if the CCPD is approved.

The initiative would require no new taxes. Funding would be provided by re-allocating 1/4 cent of sales tax revenue that is currently going to the Cedar Hill Economic Development Corporation.

If the ballot initiative fails, the sales tax rate will remain the

Lost on how to handle a lost pet?

If you have lost a pet, the first thing to do is contact the Tri-City Animal Shelter and Adoption Center at 972.291.5335. In addition to calling you should bring a picture of the pet to the shelter at 1150 E. Pleasant Run Rd. and fill out a "lost" report.

Remember, lost pet signs may not be placed in the right-of-way or medians according to Section 9-60 (e) of the Code of Ordinances, nor can they be attached to light/utility poles nor to mail boxes.

E-waste & paper shredding draw record participation

Code Enforcement Manager Stacey Graves, above in blue, directs volunteers helping with paper shredding and right, residents line up to drop off old electronic devices for safe recycling at no cost. This event collected 25,552 lbs. of electronic gear, the most ever. The City has provided these free services to residents since 2010.

Do not program 9-1-1 into your speed dial. Accidental calls from cell phones account for nearly one quarter of all 9-1-1 calls, taking time from true emergency calls. Calling 9-1-1 from a cell phone is always free.

Next year’s “Head for the Hills” bike rally is set for May 11, and Uptown Village will be hosting the event again.

This event was started in 2007 as a fund raiser for the local Rotary Club and to add a premier special event to the community’s calendar to attract visitors to enjoy the natural beauty of Cedar Hill.

Funds = benefits

The event has raised $106,000 benefitting local charities including The Cedar Hill Food Pantry, Cedar Hill Education Foundation, Bridges Safehouse, Hope Mansion, Friends of the Tri-City Animal Shelter, Cedar Hill Library, TROT, CPAAA, Wheelchair

Foundation and Polio Plus have all benefited.

The club also provides new coats and school supplies to in-need Cedar Hill children. A scholarship is provided for one high school student, and several children attend the International Museum of Cultures “Travis Day Camp”.

CCPD funding

same and EDC sales tax revenues will be unchanged.

The State-of Texas authorized CCPDs and our City Council would decide which specific public safety programs would be funded under the program. Possibilities are enhancements to the radio dispatch center, school-police programs and police-community safety programs.

A CCPD budget can include personnel, administration, expansion, enhancement and capital expenditures.

The City Council is examining the possible budget and may call for a vote in the November election.

The City Council places a high priority on public safety. As a result, Cedar Hill has one of the lowest crime rates in Dallas County.

CCPD must be renewed by another vote in 5 years.

Other cities are already using CCPD funding for over 50 types of crime prevention and public safety programs.

Based on current Cedar Hill sales tax reports, the CCPD would have about $750,000 available per year.

Sales tax is collected on retail sales made in the city. Much of this revenue comes from shoppers who live outside of Cedar Hill.

State recognizes historic 1856 tornado graveyard

Members of the Dallas County Historical Society, the Cedar Hill Historical Society were part of a group of about 40 people who attended the placement of a "Historic Texas Cemetery" by the Texas Historical Commission at what has become known as Crawford's Tornado Graveyard. This historical grave site, located in thick cedar brakes off Cedar Hill Road, is one of the oldest integrated cemeteries in Dallas County. Learn more about it on the City website at <http://cedarhilltx.com/index.aspx?NID=1518>.

Oncor posts info on power outages

Powerful storms often leave many of us without power.

In the dark we wonder, "Has anyone called this in? How long will it take to get power back?"

Now Oncor, the electricity transmission company that serves most consumers in North Texas, and specifically Cedar Hill, has introduced a new website (stormcenter.oncor.com) where consumers can see a map of outages that have been reported, see how many people are affected and get an estimated time when power will be restored.

The site is also available from Oncor.com by clicking Power Restoration. On the Oncor.com mobile site just click on Outage

Map. These sites are accessible by

The City does not maintain or restore power lines. Do not call the City to report power outages, contact Oncor at 1.866.797.4839 owner's fence, tied on a leash or under the control of the owner. Dogs running at-large are subject to being impounded by the City.

If there are downed power lines, call 911 and keep people away from the lines.

Owners of impounded animals could receive a citation for violating the City's leash law.

The fee for the first impoundment starts at $30, the second at $60 and up until the fifth time the fee is $100.

Animals redeemed from the shelter will have a microchip put in prior to leaving and must be spayed or neutered within 30 days. There is a $25 fee for microchipping.

Owners must also provide proof of rabies vaccinations within three business days of the animal being impounded.

Owners should keep current identification on the pet, have a current picture of the pet, report the pet missing immediately to the shelter and let neighbors know so that they will recognize it.

If you find a lost pet, contact Animal Control at 972.223.6111 immediately or take it to the shelter during regular business hours: Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

You may keep it in your home and search for the owner yourself but contact the shelter to leave a "found" report and bring the animal to be scanned for a microchip.
